Michel told the house the original purpose of the REA was to distribute electricity to rural areas and not to get into the generation field. The limitation would have given the agency about the same amount it used last year for generating and transmission projects. But it would have been about $100 million less than planned lending for this year, Michel claimed.

THE SACRIFICE
By ARLETTE

Sitting in front of the large mirror, Laura liked what she saw, though her heart was heavy. Her dark almond eyes carefully searched every detail of her face. Antoine had done his best work today. As she looked at the soft brown hair framing the delicate oval face, an enigmatic smile played over her sensual lips.

With critical eyes she observed reflection in the mirror. The soft pink silk dress complimented her fair skin. A final look at well-manicured fingers and now she was ready. She glanced at her jeweled wristwatch. It was getting late. She wanted to be at her apartment when Ted arrived. Quickly she left Antoine's salon.

Laura had already adjusted the record stack on the hi fi and was setting the volume low when she heard Ted's footsteps in the hall. She reached for the prepared highballs and faced the door. His clear blue eyes smiled as he swept her into a close embrace taking care not to upset the drinks Laura held overhead.

Without a word, he led her to the sofa. They sat down. He half turned and laid his head on her lap. They savored these few precious moments together. The quiet music played on. She ran her fingers through his dark hair, then under his head and drew his face close to her lips.

But tonight the dream would end. Tonight, Ted would be told. He would feel hurt but later he would be grateful.

"Oh Laura," he said. His anxious voice snapped her back to reality. "I love you so much! I don't want this to ever end. I need you. I want you with me always."

She felt the tremor in his hands as he spoke. She whispered, "I love you, too, Ted. You've been so wonderful."

Ted looked directly into her eyes. "I've spoken to Eva. She knows everything. She understands and will let me go."

"Oh, no! Ted, you didn't!" A tiny sob escaped her throat. "I love you deeply. And want to be with you always. But we can't do that to them! Eva loves you, and Little Vicki needs her father. Our happiness could never be built on their sadness. You must go back to them."

Ted pushed up, a shocked look in his eyes. "But, Laura, we love each other. I can't live without you."

"Shhh, darling." Tears filled Laura's eyes. "If you marry me, you'll hear Vicki's cries for the rest of your life. It would be torture for us both. No, this is the only way."

"But, Laura, I . . ."

She put her lips on his pleading mouth and softly said, "I've been offered a new assignment in London. It's a wonderful opportunity and I'm leaving tomorrow. Darling, don't say anything. I'll love you always. Please, go now." The last three words were a whisper.

Ted stood at the door, his questioning eyes not believing. His face white with hurt but hopeful. Then he bent and kissed her. Turning, he closed the door gently as he departed.

She walked to the dressing table and turned on the light. It was a shame to destroy Antoine's magnificent work; the artful makeup, the long, silky eye lashes. She removed the sophisticated soft brown hairdo and shook her own natural blonde back in place. She reached for the lens cap. How she hated the deceiving dark eye contacts! When Laura looked back in the mirror at her own blue eyes, she felt relieved. Her features were utterly changed.

She slipped off the pink dress and packed it in an overnight bag. Returning to the mirror for a final look, there was deep sadness in the oval face, but wisdom and hope in the clear blue eyes. She picked up the phone and dialed.

"Hello, Ted?" Her voice an octave lower. "Glad I caught you. This is Eva. I had some trouble with the car but it's fixed now. I'll be home shortly."

Fuller-Brasher Vows Pledged

A candlelight ceremony in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church joined in marriage Miss Lanette Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Fuller, and Mr. Thomas Brasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Brasher, El Dorado, on Saturday evening, July 21.
The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Munn of Hope.

The Rev. Horace B. Fuller Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Junction City, Ark., heard the vows at 8 o'clock before a background of southern smilax and branched candleabra holding pink candles. Tall baskets of pink chrysanthemums were placed on either side of the place of ceremony. Southern smilax fell in garlands from the baptistry ledge, the choir and chancel rails. Family pews were marked with pink candles, pink ribbons and greenery.

Prior to the ceremony, the pink tapers were lighted by Miss Frederica Silvey, cousin of the bride, and Steve Brasher, brother of the groom. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Horace B. Fuller, Jr., organist, and Miss Susan Davis, soloist.

in a chapel train. Her three-tiered veil of illusion fell from a coil of Swiss embroidery. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds. Her only ornament was a heart shaped diamond drop, a gift of the groom.

Miss Jan Robison attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Eppler, Hope, Miss Anne Froning, Fayetteville, Miss Darlene Cross, North Little Rock and Miss Susie Jenkins, Harrison. The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore identical dresses of street-length, petal pink silk organza with fitted bodices covered in chantilly lace waist to full skirts. They each donned a matching pill box with flowing steamers and carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Herbert Ray Martin of El Dorado served as best man. Other attendants were Billy Joe Moody, North Little Rock; Mike Parker, Hugo, Okla.; Jim Martindale and Glen Ray Hines, both of El Dorado. The guests were seated by Jerry Franks and Jimmy Tale, both of Hope.

Mrs. Fuller chose for her daughter's wedding a light green imported chantilly lace over beige silk organza. A velvet waistband caught with a full-blown rose finished the creation. She wore matching accessories and carried a single Cymbidium orchid. Mrs.
Brasher, the groom's mother, wore a blue lace dress with a white Cymbidium orchid on her left shoulder. Mrs. W. H. Munn, grandmother of the bride, chose a yum yum French red chiffon and lace with matching accessories.

Immediately following the exchange of vows, Mr. and Mrs.
Fuller complimented their daughter and her husband at a reception at the Hope Country Club. Receiving at the door were Mrs.
George Robison and Mrs. Lamar Cox, who introduced the guests to the parents of the bride couple, the bride and groom, and their attendants. Miss Sheila Foster registered the guests in the bride's book.

The bride's table was overlaid with a floor-length white satin and net cloth. A silver and crystal centerpiece centered the table, and other appointments were also silver. Alternating at the bride's table were Mrs. M. S. Bates and Mrs. Aubrey Albritton, serving punch, and Mrs. C. F. Martin and Mrs. Lois Russell serving cake. Serving at the groom's table were Misses Suellen Wood, Caroline Cox, Marcia Parker and Ann Everett.

Others extending courtesies were Mrs. W. C. Bruner Jr., Mrs.
T. J. Silvey, Mrs. Frank Horton,
Mrs. Elmer Brown, Mrs. Hubert Thrash, Miss Carolyn Strong and Miss Sherrie Hankins.

Out-of-town guests included Mr.
and Mrs. Hugh Munn and Miss Tricia Munn of Midland, Texas;
Miss Jan Dandy, Springdale; Miss
Rosemary Privett, Lonoke; Miss Judy Ferrenberg, Rogers; Miss
Marcia Parker, Marked Tree;
Miss Sallie Luplow, Parkin; Jim
Wilson, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. J. T.
Brasher, El Dorado; Mrs. Clara McClendon and Mrs. Glen Boswell both of Walden; Mr. and Mrs.
Rucker Murry, Prescott and Mr.
and Mrs. Mitchell Sparks, Little Rock.

For travel the bride chose a chanel jacket suit of wedgewood blue with matching accessories.
The bride wore a rosebud corsage taken from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Fayetteville.

Wynn Only 3 Games From 300 Victories

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If it had been anyone else, he might have smiled. But not Early Wynn.

The ancient right-hander of the Chicago White Sox had a four-hit shutout and was just three outs away from his 297th major league victory—a major milestone in his quest of 300.

Wynn's scowl—as much a trademark as his smooth, easy pitching motion—darkened his broad face as he pitched to Bob Johnson, leading off the last of the ninth in Washington.

Johnson, who was only one year old when the 42-year-old Wynn broke into organized baseball, refused to be intimidated and rapped out a single.

Wynn, who has had his difficulties since arm trouble sidelined him last season, took a deep breath and bore down as if it were a World Series. Harry Bright grounded into a double play and Chuck Hinton flied off center. This wrapped up a 6-0 decision over the Senators for old Early, the 49th shutout of his career and just three victories shy of the coveted 300 circle, which has been reached only 13 times.

Wynn's shutout, the best pitching performance in the American League Tuesday night, was the third straight victory for the White Sox and pulled them into a tie for fifth with Baltimore, which split a pair with the Los Angeles Angels.

The Orioles won the first 3-2 but the Angels recovered for an 8-5 decision in the nightcap. The split cost the Angels a half game and left them three games back of leading New York, which beat Boston 5-3. Cleveland edged Kansas City 5-4 and Detroit whipped Minnesota 4-3.

In the National League, Willie Mays' two homers helped San Francisco beat Houston 3-1 and move to within one game of first place Los Angeles, which lost to St. Louis 3-2. The Cards' Stan Musial drove in a run with a double, the 1,860th of his career tying the National League record. Milwaukee beat New York 5-4 in 12 innings. Chicago took Philadelphia 5-3 and Cincinnati defeated Pitts-

Sikes Favored in Arlington Meet

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Lanky Dick Sikes of Springdale, who won the National Public Links title twice running, but dropped the Ouachita Valley Golf Tournament at Camden last week, is favored in the Arlington Amateur tourney, beginning here Friday.

Sikes, Texarkana's Dick Murphy, former state amateur champion and Kenny Laning of Rolla, Mo., are expected to lead the field of 32 players.

The tournament will include a pro-am event, starting Saturday with three amateurs playing one professional. The winning pro is to get $300. Second place winner takes $200, third, $100 and fourth through sixth, $50. Amateurs will get merchandise prizes.

The pro-am event will be played on a best ball basis. The amateur section, a match play affair, ends Sunday.

burgh 6-4.
The Yankees' Whitey Ford got credit for his 10th victory against five losses against the Red Sox, but had to have help when Boston filled the bases in the ninth with none out. Bill Skovron drove in two runs with a double and a triple.

Steve Barber and Baltimore had a 3-1 lead going into the ninth of the opener at Los Angeles, but the Angels put runners on second and third with one out, and Hoyt Wilhelm had to come in to put out the fire.

The Angels salvaged a split by ripping into Chuck Estrada for five runs in the third inning of the second game. Albie Pearson drove in three runs and scored another for Los Angeles.

Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single in the ninth broke a 4-4 tie and brought Detroit its first victory over Minnesota in seven tries this season. Norm Cash's 27th homer tied it in the eighth.

Cleveland's Dick Donovan won his 13th against four losses, but had to have help when Kansas City pulled to within one run with a two-run rally in the ninth. Willie Kirkland's three-run homer in the first staked him to an early lead.

Nat'l's to Seek Win No. 6 in Star Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American League all-star manager Ralph Houk, bent on strengthening his lineup for the second inter-league test next Monday at Chicago, has picked Pete Runnels, the circuit's leading batter, and his own Yogi Berra, an all-star standby for more than a decade.

In a further bid to stem the rising National League tide, the Yankee skipper added Los Angeles' Ken Kubic, the league's hottest pitcher, and left-hander Jim Kaat of Minnesota to his staff. Dropped was Boston's Bill Monbouquette, who hasn't hurled a complete game in nearly a month.

A 3-1 winner at Washington earlier this month, the Nationals go into the second all-star meeting at Wrigley Field with five victories and a tie in their last seven meetings with the rival circuit. Another victory would even the overall series at 16 games apiece. At one point the Americans led 12 games to four.

Houk, taking advantage of the rule that permits addition of three players to bring the squad to 28, obviously chose two left-handed hitters because of the Nationals' deficiency in the southpaw pitching department. National League manager Fred Hutchinson, who will add three players to his squad Thursday, thus far has only two southpaws — Warren Spahn and Sandy Koufax. The latter is expected to be dropped from the squad because of a hand injury which currently has him on the sidelines.

Houk also named Milt Pappas, from Baltimore, to his mound staff, replacing Hoyt Wilhelm. The Oriole knuckler had been picked for the first game but had to be replaced by Pappas at the last minute when he developed a sore shoulder.

The American League's nine-man pitching staff includes holdovers Hank Aguirre of Detroit, Dick Donovan of Cleveland, Ralph Terry of New York, Camilo Pascual of Minnesota and Dave Stenhouse of Washington.

As in the first game, the eight players named by their teammates must start and play through at least three innings. The starters are outfielders Leon Wagner of Los Angeles and Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of New York; infielders Jim Gentile of Baltimore, Billy Moran of Los Angeles, Luis Aparicio of Chicago and Rich Rollins of Minnesota.

Miller Has Proved Worth to the Mets

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took only one pitch for Robert G. Miller to prove he's a true New York Met.

Robert G. Miller is a left-handed pitcher. The Mets also have a Robert L. Miller, who is right-handed.

Robert L's record is 0-7. Robert G. had never thrown a ball for the Mets before Tuesday night. Then he threw one. Now he is 0-1.

Del Crandall hit the pitch for a home run in the bottom of the 12th to give the Milwaukee Braves a 5-4 victory over the Mets. It was the ninth straight loss for the Mets who are only one game over the .250 mark.

At the other end of the league Willie Mays continued his hitting rampage with homers No. 30 and 31 to lead the San Francisco Giants to a 3-1 victory over the Houston Colts. The win moved the Giants to within a game of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who were edged 3-2 by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Joey Jay got his 14th victory as the Cincinnati Reds won over Pittsburgh 6-4 and the Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3.

In the American League, the leading New York Yankees stretched their advantage to three games with a 5-3 victory over Boston while second-place Los Angeles split with Baltimore. The Angels lost the first 3-2 and won the second 8-5. Detroit edged Minnesota 4-3. Cleveland beat Kansas City 5-4 and Chicago blanked Washington 6-0.

Houston right-hander Dick Farrell, who admitted last Saturday that he occasionally mixed a wet pitch into his repertoire, couldn't find any way to stop Mays until it was too late. He served up solo homers to the majors' home run leader in the first and fourth innings.

In the sixth he hit Willie with a pitch. That didn't work, either. Mays went on to score the Giants' final run on Orlando Cepeda's single and Felipe Alou's sacrifice fly.

Jack Sanford got his 13th win—and seventh in a row—for the Giants with help from Don Larsen who came on in the seventh after the Colts scored their only run.

The Dodgers again got lower hitting from Frank Howard but their vaunted baseline speed was missing.

The Cardinals twice threw out Ron Fairly at the plate as he tried and catcher Earl Batley of Minnesota.

Lynette, who is a cousin of Hollywood dancer Juliet Prowse, failed to reach the finals at Miami.

Army Official
Has Praise
for Guards

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Under Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes praised 5,000 departing Army reservists and National Guardsmen here today for a job well done during their past 10 months of mobilization.

Ailes presented the Legion of Merit to the commander of 3,000 of the troops, Maj. Gen. Dillman A. Ruck of Louisville, Ky., commanding general of the 100th Division.

The 5,000 reservists — members of the 100th and 21 other reserve and National Guard units — reactivated Ft. Chaffee as an infantry training center last fall to help build up the nation's regular army forces.

With the number of regular combat divisions increased from 11 to 16 and a new training center established at Ft. Polk, La., training is scheduled to end at Chaffee Aug. 11.

The last of the reservists are scheduled to leave Chaffee Aug. 11, except for small re- party detachments.

Ailes told the reservists they have performed a superior job, strengthening the nation's diplomacy at a critical moment and possibly even preventing a war. "Your country certainly thanks you," he said.

Ailes, commenting in the 100th division, saying it had "determined that in everything they were going to do they were going to be the best — and they were." Ailes, commenting on the reserve component reorganization and realignment plan the Department of Defense is seeking to implement, said it is "not the result of anything that went wrong in the mobilization, but a result of the fact that everything went so well."

He said the reorganization was designed to "fit the Reserve, Guard and active Army structure together more purposefully."

The citation to Ruck cited him for "meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding serv-

It's Never Too Late

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You published a letter from a little 13-year-old girl who signed herself "Misery's Child." I almost cried when I read it for she is walking the same road I followed 27 years ago.

My mother, like hers, was no person to bring up children. When she and my father divorced, the court awarded him custody of my sister and me. I took turns living with each of them (my choice), on opposite sides of the United States.

Mother married a second time and, with my stepfather, drank and night. He was a dreadful creature. He beat her, he beat me. I held it against her that she stuck it out six years. We had no money.

Like Misery's child, I wore tattered hand-me-downs. The dress I wore to my high school graduation was borrowed. Why I didn't go to the dogs, I still don't know. Looking back I wonder how I kept from getting in with the wrong crowd. My classmates were all nice kids. I still see them.

Over the years we have a gotten together every three months, shared our joys and sorrows and watched our children grow up. I must have had some innate good in me — perhaps it was a throw-back to an ancestor. But I always ices." In addition, Asst. 100th Div. Commander Brig. Gen. Benjamin J. Butler of Lexington, Ky. received the U.S. Continental Army Command Certificate of Achievement and all Fort Chaffee Reserve and Guard units received special citations.

The Fourth U.S. Army Commanding General, Lt. Gen. Carl H. Jark presented the following Fourth Army commanders achievement awards:

Special award to the 4002nd U.S. Army Garrison of Ardmore, Okla. and Ojla. City, Okla.; Co. A, 397th Regiment (most outstanding in 100th Div.), 716th Transportation Co. of Aberdeen, S. Dak. (most outstanding non-divisional unit); Co. E, 398th Reg., 100th Div. 403rd Ordnance Co., Florida and Sampson, Ala., and the Fourth Army maintenance trophy to the 404th Ordnance Co. of Monticello.

Following the review, Ailes and his party toured base facilities, and a supply handler's school. They were scheduled to leave Fort Smith at 1:30 p.m.

gravitated to decent people. In that way I met and married a wonderful man just 20 years ago. It seems like yesterday! We have three fine children. Our boy, 19, is in his first year at college. Our older girl, just 15, has been an honor roll student for the last three years. Our youngest, a 10-year-old, is developing into a very nice young lady. All three are very attractive (I am not bragging). We are proud of our family. Please tell the girls whose beginnings are like mine, that a happy life is theirs, provided they have the courage and guts to rise above a shoddy present. —One Who Knows

Dear One: May the girls who like "Misery's Child" find life hard, read and be heartened by your letters. "Misery's Child" gave no address, else I would forward it to her. The response to her own touching letter has been tremendous. So many people wanted to send her a graduation dress. Your story goes to show that if you hang on, you win out. Character is developed by adversity!

Dear Helen: What do you think of a friend for not paying back a loan? Through my lawyer I have learned that the friend has gone into bankruptcy and that there is no way possible for me to collect the thousands of dollars — savings of a lifetime. I am sick with worry and shall never trust anyone again. Have you any suggestions as to what to do next? —H. Dear H: Go back to work, sadler but wiser, yet still believing in people. The law of compensation does function. One way or another your friend will have to pay. And, under the same law, you will be repaid. Probably not by the so-called friend but by another more worthy of the name. Experience is only valuable if we profit by it. Having learned your lesson you should be more businesslike next time.

Dear Helen: Yesterday I was told I could never again see the boy with whom I have been going for over a year. My parents said, "This is for your own good." The boy and I are of different faiths though of the same tastes. Our love is deep and abiding. Some day we plan to marry. My parents warned me that if I persist in seeing him I shall have to go across the State line and live with my uncle. The total effect of all this is to make me determined to defy them. I hate them for doing this to me. Why must parents be so cruel. —A Teen-Ager

Stays in Hospital

Dear Teen-Ager: Your parents speak from experience and out of love for you. Maybe they are right and you wrong. If the boy feels as deeply as you, each of you should talk with your ministers. But you'll get nowhere by being emotional.

Sit down and reason this out. Weigh the consequences. What would you lose? How about your education? Who's going to buy your clothes and pay for your board and keep? And how about the doctor's bills, should you fall ill?

Love's young dream is all very well but you've got to be practical too and also fair.

Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Association took a backhanded swipe at its old foe, Orval E. Faubus, in a letter mailed to members today.

While the letter from AEA President Hays Gibson of Conway does not endorse a candidate for governor, it is, in effect, an endorsement for all five of Faubus' Democratic primary opponents and Republican candidate Willis Ricketts.

The letter concerns two AEA-backed proposals which will be on the November general election ballot — a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee soundness of the teacher retirement system and an initiated act to pledge 50 per cent of state revenues to the public school fund.

It reprints replies of all candidates to an AEA request for a stand on the two proposals. All candidates except Faubus gave an unqualified endorsement to both measures.

"It is difficult to assume that any candidate who does not support both of these reasonable measures is sincerely interested in our welfare," the letter says.

Faubus has said he would support the retirement amendment. Gibson also took issue with a Faubus statement that assets of the teacher retirement system has increased during his tenure, proving the retirement system is sound.

Gibson said during the past three years, unfounded liabilities of the system had increased from $6.3 million to $13.9 million and that on June 30, 1962, only 65.6 per cent of the liabilities was funded. "It is obvious that a continuation of this trend would destroy the teacher retirement system," Gibson wrote.

Faubus defeated the AEA in a teacher retirement controversy during the 1961 Legislature. AEA wanted the state to put 9.72 per cent of total teacher salaries into the fund. Faubus wanted the state's contribution pegged at 5 per cent.

JURISDICTION AND DUTY OF MUNICIPAL COURTS

Municipal Courts have county-wide jurisdiction to:

1. Try defendants charged with misdemeanors, the penalty for which, if found guilty, is a fine or jail sentence, or both;
2. Conduct preliminary hearings where a defendant is charged with a felony, but in such cases only have authority to bind the defendant over to the action of the Circuit Court. Since the adoption of Constitutional Amendment No. 21, in 1937, authorizing the Prosecuting Attorney to file felony charges direct with the Circuit Court, Municipal Courts seldom handle a preliminary hearing;
3. Try civil cases in the following matters:
 - a. Exclusive of the Circuit Court in all matters of contract where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $100.00, excluding interest;
 - b. Concurrent jurisdiction in matters of contract where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $300.00, exclusive of interest;
 - c. Concurrent jurisdiction in suits for the recovery of personal property where the value of the property does not exceed the sum of $300.00;
 - d. Damage to personal property where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $100.00.

Law Enforcement

Notwithstanding the fact that the law enforcement officers have been doing a good job in performing their duties, statistics show that this procedure alone has not stopped crime. The latest report of the F.B.I. shows that "four major crimes a minute were committed in the United States last year, — an all time high.

"The annual uniform crime report showed the crime rate growth continued to outstrip population growth by nearly 5 to 1." This leads to the question, HOW CAN THE SYSTEM OF LAW ENFORCEMENT BE IMPROVED?

Law enforcement is, and has always been, necessary to our well being and form of government. When the term "law enforcement" is used, we usually think only of the duty of fixing and enforcing the penalty provided by law for the offense charged. While this is essential, it does not constitute the entire duty of those charged with enforcing the law. It is essential that all the facts surrounding the commission of the alleged crime, as well as the environment and surroundings of the accused be ascertained, to enable the court to reach a just conclusion.

The idea is prevalent that law enforcement is solely the duty and responsibility of those elected or appointed to make arrests and see that offenders are carried before the proper court and tried, according to law. Of course, this is a prerequisite, but every citizen, also, has a duty and responsibility to aid in law enforcement.

Traffic Laws

With the large number of motor vehicles operating daily on our streets and highways, regulating and governing traffic is a big problem. Traffic law violations should be carefully investigated. In most instances, there is no excuse for the violation. Many wrecks, loss of life and property are caused by drunken drivers and where this is true there is nothing left to do but assess the penalty provided by law.

MUNICIPAL JUDGE
HOPE, ARKANSAS

Juvenile Delinquency

Juvenile delinquency is one of the biggest problems that confronts our people today. I am glad to say, however, that the conduct of the youth of our city and county, compared to the majority of other cities and counties, in the United States, is far above the average. This, of course, is due to the untiring efforts of the mothers and the home life, the efficient services rendered by the public schools, churches, civic clubs and those directing youth activities as well as the constant and faithful services of the law enforcement officers.

The duty and responsibility of the Municipal Court to hear and determine the guilt or innocence of one charged with a crime, even though it be a misdemeanor, and to assess a penalty, if the defendant is found guilty, is a grave responsibility and should be carefully considered. Although misdemeanors are considered minor crimes, in many instances a life of crime begins with the commission of a misdemeanor. Hence, the importance of handling such cases, with this thought in mind and with a view of doing everything possible not only to assess the required penalty, but also, to endeavor to handle the matter in such a way as to help the offender change his way of life. There should be wholehearted cooperation by the court with the Chief of Police, Sheriff, all law enforcement officers and agencies, and such course, if followed, could at least, in some instances, be instrumental in enabling the offender to rehabilitate himself and especially in cases of juvenile delinquents. At least, the court owes it to society and to the defendant to do every thing possible to reduce crime.

Illicit Liquor

Violations of the liquor law should be enforced as same as any other law. Our people have voted against "legal" liquor and the law prohibits anyone from possessing more than one (1) gallon of taxed liquor and three (3) gallons of taxed beer, or any amount of untaxed intoxicating beverages; transporting more than one (1) gallon of taxed liquor or more than three (3) gallons of taxed beer; possessing any quantity of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale; selling intoxicating liquor or beer and for one to appear in a public place in an intoxicated condition.

These laws should be strictly enforced, and the enforcement should not be confined to the person who happens to get drunk, possess a quart more liquor than the law permits, but should reach out after the "big dealer," if there be such. In other words, it is frequently said that the "big dealer," backing the liquor traffic, is never brought into court. All liquor laws should be enforced, but more especially against those who, not only handle it, but who encourage and sponsor others to handle it.

It will be my constant ambition and my controlling purpose, if elected your Municipal Judge, to give wholehearted cooperation to the enforcement of the law in a fair and impartial manner and in accordance with the law.
